

MAPLE LEAF AND EAGLE FUND

To better support North American Studies at the University of Helsinki, the University has established a special Maple Leaf and Eagle Fund. Any and all donations are very much appreciated.

With 500.000 € we could create a position for a coordinator, and with a million Euros, a position for an associate professor. If you donate 1,5 million € we will found a chair in your name and would be happy to negotiate with you the field of such a chair within North American Studies.

Much of the above is, of course, a dream, but if you would like to support the University of Helsinki North American Studies Program, its research, its teaching, its conferences, and its students, please donate to the University of Helsinki funds at the following Nordea bank account:

Helsingin yliopiston rahastot
Nordea 157230-30072

Do not forget to mention that your donation is intended to be included as part of the Maple Leaf and Eagle Fund, and don't forget to mention your name either. We would also appreciate it, if you inform professor Markku Henriksson (markku.henriksson@helsinki.fi) about your donation, so that we can easily follow the development of the fund. Thank you.

The University of Helsinki is a leading European university. The results produced by the research and teaching carried out at the University have been widely acclaimed. The success of our University has been generously supported by countless alumni, private individuals and organizations. Over the years, going back as far as the eighteenth century, the University has received donations and bequests that enables us to award scholarships and bursaries for talented students and researchers. The North American Studies program within the Department of World Cultures is the only such program in Finland to have a full degree curricula. Bachelor's, master's, licentiate and doctoral degrees are all awarded in Helsinki. The program is particularly strong in Native American and First Nations Studies and environmental history in addition to the literature, history, and politics of Canada and the United States.
